SAN JOSE, Calif., March 10, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Nutanix (NASDAQ: NTNX), a leader in hybrid multicloud computing, today announced the programming for its .NEXT 2026 event, set to be conducted in Chicago from April 7-9, 2026.

.NEXT 2026 will bring together industry leaders, executives, developers, IT professionals, and thought leaders to explore the intersection of enterprise AI, distributed data, modern IT, and cloud native innovation. Attendees will gain valuable insights into emerging trends, best practices, and innovative strategies to run better, modernize now, and innovate faster.

.NEXT will feature keynote speakers who are leaders and visionaries in their fields, including:

- Mark Rober - Founder and CEO of CrunchLabs
- Kelsey Hightower - Former Distinguished Engineer, Google Cloud

Attendees will hear from Nutanix customers, including JetBlue Airways, Lockton, and Purdue University, who will share real-world success stories and best practices for leveraging Nutanix solutions to:

- Run Better: Control costs while running an intelligent hybrid cloud with a consistent sovereign operating model across multicloud endpoints —simplifying operations and unifying management.
- Modernize Now: Modernize quickly with a unified environment for both containers and virtual machines, while leveraging team skills, governance, and distributed sovereignty.
- Innovate Faster: Realize the value of enterprise AI faster with a scalable compute and storage operating environment for AI factories, enabling rapid adoption of the latest AI hardware and software so teams can innovate confidently while keeping data secure.

CEO Rajiv Ramaswami, as well as other Nutanix executives, will take the stage to share the latest innovations in cloud native applications, enterprise AI, and more. Attendees will gain a clear vision of how Nutanix is driving transformation for CXOs, infrastructure and operations teams, cloud architects, and platform engineers through its Cloud Platform and strategic partnerships.

Attendees will have the opportunity for hands-on labs, education courses, certification opportunities, and a broad range of expert sessions including:

- AI in the Enterprise
- Databases and Business-Critical Applications
- End User Computing
- Kubernetes and Cloud Native
- Management and Orchestration at Scale
- Migration to Nutanix
- Modern Infrastructure for Datacenter, Edge and Hybrid Cloud
